

Imagine that you are watching your private social network on a large public display. The public area is empty.

When the stranger appears ...
Your social network is masked.

When the stranger appears ...
Your social network is blurred. Your mobile phone vibrates asking you to choose an action: remove, mask, or leave friends on the display.

